

```
class Question:
def __init__(self, question_text, correct_answer):
self.question_text = question_text self.correct_answer = correct_answer def check_answer(self, user_answer):

return user_answer.lower() == self.correct_answer.lower()

def run_quiz(questions):
score = 0
for question in questions:
print(question.question_text)
user_answer = input("Enter your answer: ")
if question.check_answer(user_answer):
print("Correct!\n")
score += 1
else:
print("Wrong. The correct answer is: " + question.correct_answer + "\n") print(f"You got {score}/{len(questions)} questions correct.")

if __name__ == "__main__":
Define your quiz questions and answers
question1 = Question("What is the capital of France?", "Paris") question2 = Question("Which planet is known as the 'Red Planet'?", "Mars") question3 = Question("What is 45 + 25?", "70") question4 = Question("What is famous dish in maharashtra?", "pav bhaji")

Create a list of questions
quiz_questions = [question1, question2, question3, question4]

Run the quiz
run_quiz(quiz_questions)
```